

To be successful a democracy absolutely requires a citizenry that is informed about all sides of the issues. Current mass media does a pitiful job of this. It seems to me that allowing still more concentrated ownership of the media will reduce still further the breadth and depth of coverage we will get. Please head the other direction, and demand that media earn their licenses to use the publicly owned airwaves by providing regular broadcasts of information that serves the public and not the interests of whoever may be licensed.

Thank you.

Nat Childs.
